Letter to the Shareholders

Dear Shareholders,

Spring is the bridge from winter to summer and is an apt analogy of where we are both as a corporation and as a people. There is no question that this past year (with COVID-19) has been both surreal and challenging. Our way of life, our sense of community, and our livelihoods were tested. In the face of adversity, we rise together, adapt, and keep pushing forward to achieve our goals.

As a people, we have gone through so many challenges and have not only survived but thrived. While there are several reasons we persevered, including our sense of community, enduring sense of humor, and the overall strength of our people, acknowledging the tenacity to persist for centuries has been key to our past successes. In that spirit, though the loss of the 2020 cruise season and the uncertainty of a 2021 season are daunting, there are successes we have achieved in these challenging times.

We are fortunate to have a disciplined board and management team who consistently look to the benefits being pursued for not only current, but future shareholders. The successes we had this past year and continuing into this year are a direct result of the groundwork laid over the last few years. The carbon offset initiative, and the revenue generated from our first government contracting subsidiary purchased in 2018, softened the impact of lost revenue in 2020 as a result of the federally mandated cruise ship shutdown. While Icy Strait Point did not operate, we can still appreciate the successes that helped us endure this unprecedented global crisis.

We will come back stronger than before and are positioned to hit the ground running when cruising returns to Icy Strait Point. We are growing our offerings in federal contracting and we are strategically pursuing opportunities to benefit our shareholders. The pandemic has affected us for over a year, and while not out of the woods, we are seeing the light at the end of the tunnel. It's spring...we are leaving winter behind and heading into summer.

On behalf of Huna Totem Corporation, Gunalchéesh.

RUSSELL DICK

President & CEO, Huna Totem Corporation

Board Highlight: Will Davis

Board Member Will Davis has dedicated the past decade to providing senior leadership oversight of a comprehensive fundraising program at the City of Hope National Medical Center. Working with renowned scientist and philanthropist Dr. Arthur Riggs, Will recently raised $100 million to accelerate development of new and better treatments and, ideally, cures for those suffering from diabetes.

This is an astounding accomplishment, and Will has big dreams for both the fight against diabetes and for Huna Totem, where he has served on the Board since 2006. “Developing new tools to help people with diabetes ties directly to our guiding principle to continually think ahead and act on behalf of future generations. And, our Board continues to think ahead, building out our award-winning port at Icy Strait while diversifying into federal contracting. It all comes together with our values of taking care of one another and inspiring our younger generation to know they can do great things, while also serving the Xúna Kaawu,” he said.

“At Huna Totem, we have been blessed with an incredibly capable and accomplished Board of Directors, and Will Davis is an exemplary demonstration of dedication and hard work translating to extraordinary results. Like so many generations of Xúna Kaawu before him, Will has found ways to serve our people and, through his work, care for those in need,” said Huna Totem CEO Russell Dick.

Please join us in congratulating Will on this incredible success for the City of Hope, recognizing his contributions to positive change in the greater world, all while keeping himself anchored in our culture and heritage. Will’s message of inspiration and vivid example to upcoming generations is to know you are capable of both doing great things AND serving the Xúna Kaawu!

Gatheeni Fills Gap in Ferry Service

The inaugural sailing of supplemental transportation service between Hoonah and Juneau on the Gatheeni, Icy Strait Point's 49-passenger catamaran, was conducted on March 12th. Although our vessel was not initially intended for ferry type service, the vessel and crew stepped in to provide a vital service to the community during the gap in Alaska Marine Highway System (AMHS) service, running a total of five (5) round-trips during the month. We were nearly full for each sailing and provided transportation for many people during timeframes when planes were unable to fly. Hoonah residents were able to connect with family, attend to medical needs, stock household supplies – all continuing needs of an Alaska community. It was a new and exciting business venture for Icy Strait Point and our Marine Operations staff. We look forward to more opportunities to serve our community, and hopefully region, in the future.

In a time of year when we're all missing the roar of the crowds at Gold Medal, we wanted to share a special throwback photo of the Huna B Team at Gold Medal in 1996. We are looking forward to the next time we can safely come together to chant, "HOO-NAH!"

Firewood Donated to City for Community Use

On November 24, 2020, ISP & HTC donated the logs from the wilderness landing clearing to the City of Hoonah. In partnership with the City, the wood was taken to subdivision road next to the clinic where the City of Hoonah gave back to the community by processing and making it available for personal use firewood. Hoonah families in need of firewood will be happy to hear that Icy Strait Point has donated an additional 40 logs that will again be processed and donated back to the community in conjunction with the City of Hoonah. Thank you to the many helpful hands that made this firewood program a success.

Collections Care for Access and Growth: A New Grant Funded Archives Project

Huna Heritage Foundation has done an excellent job of collecting cultural and historical records since the 1990's. We are excited to share that Huna Heritage has been awarded a 2-year grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Services to process our collection for access and use of the audio and video recordings, photographs and print material of Hoonah culture and history that are held in our archives. This project will fulfill the expressed need for archives access from our Hoonah people, Elders, students, and instructors; and those studying our cultural ways of being. While we work to provide maximum access to archival collections we also strive to steward and honor the integrity of culturally based items. As such, some materials may have legal, institutional, family, or clan restrictions to access some or parts of the collections. For example, access to cultural material may be accessible to our community members but not the general public.

A core program of HHF is the Library and Archives whose mission is to preserve material of historical and cultural value for the education and enjoyment of current and future generations. We understand and value the need to properly process our unique collections for the purposes of access, preservation, and education. By providing access to the stories and photographs of those who came before us, we build intergenerational connections. We are better able to share our way of life with our people by increasing accessibility to historical and cultural photographs and audio and film materials through arrangement, descriptions, and finding aids. This project supports community needs by providing access to stories, photos, cultural history, and our collective identity. Huna Totem conducted shareholder surveys, available to over 1400 shareholders in 2012 and 2019 to identify priorities. Shareholders indicated the preservation of culture through library, archives, and historic collections activities as the second highest priority behind higher education scholarships. The Collections Care for Access and Growth project is in direct response to the assessed shareholder and community needs and the growing interest in conveying traditional knowledge and Hoonah history.

The Executive Director and Board of Trustees wholeheartedly support the project as the next archives priority for HHF. Brett Dillingham is the Juneau based Archivist and has served Huna Heritage Foundation as digital archivist, audio interviewer and historian for the past three years. Michael Cheslock is the Hoonah based Project Coordinator and has served as the Film Project Coordinator for Huna Heritage Foundation for the past year and a half. The archives have provided material for Michael's short films and he has become aware of the overwhelming need to have the archives processed so shareholder access and use become a reality.
